McKeithen Asks PAR Advice On Higher Education

By SAM HANNA
Political Editor

BATON ROUGE — Gov. John J. McKeithen said Friday he wants to see the Public Affairs Research Council's recommendations on coordination for higher education.

McKeithen said, "I am not well enough versed on the subject to make a statement at this time."

He appeared before his weekly press conference as PAR was concluding its 15th annual conference which emphasized higher education in Louisiana.

NO PLANS NOW

When asked to comment on proposals to coordinate plans for higher educational facilities, McKeithen replied:

"I would like to see the recommendations by PAR and Sen. Eagan's committee. We don't have any plans for legislation now."

PAR's recommendations to coordinate a study of educational needs haven't been made yet, but its conference featured educators who spoke out for long-range planning. A legislative committee headed by Sen. Fred

Rep. Womack Recall Move Is Opposed

World News Service

BATON ROUGE — Gov. John J. McKeithen stood by Rep. Lantz Womack of Winnsboro Friday, saying he didn't think the Franklin Parish lawmaker should be recalled.

"The Citizens Council must be confused about Rep. Womack's record," McKeithen told his weekly press conference. "He has voted for all the segregation bills. His record shows that."

CIRCULATE PETITION

Womack, a McKeithen floor leader, is the target of a Citizens Council recall petition being circulated in Franklin Parish. It takes 25 per cent of the registered voters to sign the petition to set the recall machinery into motion.

"Rep. Womack has helped me a lot in the legislature," McKeithen said. "I don't think he's done anything to be recalled."

The governor also said it would be impossible to recall U.S. Sen. Russell B. Long as recommended by a Citizens Council group that met with McKeithen recently.

"The last poll I saw, which was made back during the presidential race, showed that Sen. Long has the overwhelming support of the people of this state," McKeithen said.

When asked about Ku Klux Klan activity in the Bogalusa area, McKeithen replied "I think all the power and fright of the Klu Klux Klan is exaggerated. Nobody is in my part of the country in afraid of them. The majority of people in this state believe in separate facilities, including the colored."

He said he thought some people claimed they were threatened by the Klan "just to get publicity."

McKeithen also said Col. Thomas Burbank of the state police returned Friday from Jonesboro where Negro students boycotted a high school.

"I haven't received Col. Burbank's report, but we think the worst part is over," he said.

McKeithen also announced he had approved renovation of the old Pentagon Building, located across the street from the capitol, as recommended by the Louisiana Architects Association.

When asked by a New Orleans newsmen if he planned to use bond issue funds for improvements at the Jackson institution, McKeithen appeared angered, but replied no.

Later, as he outlined his Washington weekend plans McKeithen told the reporter "I am going to have dinner with your boss tomorrow."

McKeithen and his secretary, Gus Weill, will fly to Washington today for the Gridiron Show, then to St. Louis on Sunday where the professional basketball Hawks are honoring the retiring Bob Pettit, former LSU All-American from Baton Rouge.

Mrs. McKeithen plans to join the governor in Washington Monday for President Johnson's governors conference.

U.S. Assured 'Space First' With Gemini

Astronauts Plan To Change Orbit In Coming Flight

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Astronauts Virgil I. Grissom and John W. Young still will fly the world's first maneuverable manned spacecraft on their weather threatened orbital flight scheduled Tuesday.

This "space first" for the United States was practically assured Friday when Soviet cosmonauts Pavel Belyayev and Alexei Leonov returned to earth without conducting any orbit shifting maneuvers with their Voskhod 2 capsule.

PLAN FOR FUTURE

Grissom and Young plan to fly their Gemini 3 craft backward, forward and sideways and change orbital paths as they try the vehicle out for future long-duration and rendezvous flights.

Success of the mission would be as spectacular a feat as Leonov's exit into space Thursday on the end of a tether. Both techniques must be developed for manned lunar landing flights.

No previous American or Soviet manned spacecraft had the ability to change orbital path. Grissom, as command pilot, will alter his course by up to 50 miles by firing jet-like engines.

Astronaut exposure to the space elements is a goal of the Gemini program and on the second manned flight, scheduled in June, astronaut James A. McDivitt is to at least partially emerge from his spacecraft.

Scouts from the Ouachita Valley Boy Scout Council will go on a tour today, looking for "unsightly sights," and cleaning them up. This is one of their community projects in connection with the Ouachita Parish Police Jury's "Operation Cleanup."

Supervisors will be Jack Pankey, scout executive, and Frank McDermott, field commissioner. Herbert Collier, parish engineer, will also help the group and provide a parish truck. The group will meet at the highway barn at 9 a.m. to begin the cleanup tour.

Mrs. R. J. Moore was up and around and back almost into the swing of things Friday.

Mrs. Moore, 109 Fairfield, West Monroe, underwent abdominal surgery recently at Glenwood Hospital. Her doctor gave her the go-ahead Thursday to return to routine activities of a non-exerting nature.

GOVERNOR PRAYS

Five Men Rescued From Death Penalty

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — "Thank you, Lord. Thank you, governor. Thank you, Jesus," said Rube Sims, who would have died in 18 hours.

The other four men in death row of the state penitentiary stood quietly as Gov. Frank G. Clement told them Friday he was commuting their death sentences to 99 years.

Clement, loser by one vote in his effort to outlaw capital punishment in Tennessee, explained his "prayerful decision" and told them to ask God to forgive them their crimes of rape and murder.

"I can save your life, but I can't be the pardoning power ultimately," he said standing outside the prisoners' cells, a few feet from the electric chair.

His hands trembling, the governor bowed his head and asked the prison chaplain to lead them in prayer. It ended with a chorus of "amen" by the convicts.

The State House of Representatives on Thursday killed a bill to repeal capital punishment despite a personal plea from Clement. He labeled the death penalty "legal murder of our fellow man."

The Senate had voted overwhelmingly for repeal, but the bill failed in the House, 48-47.

"I think it is significant that of the 127 senators and representatives who voted apparently most favored repealing the death penalty," Clement told newsmen as they walked toward death row.

"It is evidence that a majority of the people do not favor capital punishment."

Clement said he felt that the collective 15 years the five men had lived under the imminent threat of death "constitutes, or very nearly constitutes, cruel and inhuman treatment."

Six men died in the chair during previous Clement administrations, and two others were saved by commutations.

Sims, Richard B. Thomas and Clayton Dawson were scheduled to die today at 5 a.m. The other two are Freddie Green and Henry Smith Jr.

"I hope you will devote your lives to thought and prayer," Clement said, urging the five to talk with the chaplain.

U.N. Forces Not Leaving Cyprus Duty

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Amid rising tensions and a military build-up on Cyprus, the Security Council voted unanimously Friday to prolong the term of the U.N. peace-keeping force there for another three months. This extends its life until June 25.

U.S. Delegate Adlai E. Stevenson told the 11-nation council there were "disturbing indications about the arrival of heavy and sophisticated weapons" in Cyprus. Cypriot Foreign Minister Spyros Kyprianou replied that Cyprus had the right to defend itself.

Planes Bomb Red Targets With Napalm

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Land-based U.S. Air Force and carrier-based Navy planes pounded military targets at two inland points deep in North Viet Nam Friday. All the more than 110 planes taking part were believed to have returned safely, reporting 100 per cent of the targets destroyed.

SEVENTH IN SERIES

It was the second strike against North Viet Nam in five days, hitting 20 miles inland about 160 miles north of the 17th Parallel dividing North and South Viet Nam. Friday's was the seventh raid of a series launched against the North Vietnamese Communists Feb. 7.

The U.S. Defense Department said in Washington that the United States has changed its policy and now is using napalm — jellied petroleum fire bombs — against some North Vietnamese targets. Napalm was used on Monday's raid and on at least one of two targets hit Friday, officials said.

A U.S. statement said "the targets were Phu Van and Vinh Son, where there are a number of military supply installations." A spokesman added the Navy planes also hammered the Thu An supply depot, adjoining the Vinh Son area.

A U.S. Air Force spokesman said approximately 60 Air Force planes and 50 to 75 carrier-based Navy jet and propeller-driven planes from the U.S. 7th Fleet participated in the raid. He said the weather was good and no enemy planes were sighted.

West Germany Will Keep On Hunting Nazis

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany's Parliament moved Friday to extend the hunt for Nazi murderers from 1965 until 1980, but created a loophole for those whom West German courts consider minor offenders.

The action came from the Bundestag's legal committee. The bills approved will go before the Bundestag next week, probably Thursday, and are likely to be passed.

The committee approved two bills:

1. To extend the statute of limitations on murder to 30 years, instead of the present 20 years.

This statute says that after the prescribed time has elapsed from the commission of the murder, it can no longer be prosecuted. The bill was reported adopted by a majority vote.

2. To make the statute run not from 1945, as the law now provides, but from Jan. 1, 1950.

This bill also gives West German courts the right to throw out the cases of people against whom there is no strong suspicion of guilt or whose guilt is considered small because they occupied minor positions under Hitler and had no chance for independent action. The new provision was proposed by Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's Christian Democratic party through its spokesman on the committee, Max Guede.

Spring Arrives On Wintry Note

Winter seems determined to go out in style and official arrival of spring at 2:05 p.m. today in the Twin Cities probably will not be recognized in so far as temperature readings are concerned.

High readings today are predicted at 44 to 48 with nighttime lows forecast at 26-30.

FAA at Selman Field recorded Friday's high of 39 about 1 p.m. — and by late Friday night the thermometer was down to a frigid 26. Brief snow flurries were reported on the southside and eastside of town during the afternoon.

Today's forecast calls for mostly cloudy skies and continued cold through tonight. The outlook for Sunday is partly cloudy and not quite so cold. Winds today will be northeasterly at eight to 15 miles per hour.

RUSSIAN STAND

Gromyko Tells Viet Peace Plan

LONDON (AP) — Andrei A. Gromyko on Friday demanded total American withdrawal from Viet Nam as the key — but not the first — condition in a four point Soviet peace plan.

He warned the Western powers that if they underderrate "the dangers inherent in the Viet Nam situation" it could be "very bad" for the world.

Gromyko ruled out chances of any early peacemaking initiative with the British who, he said, have not been acting impartially in the crisis. This was a grumble against London's backing for Washington's policies.

ENDS TALKS

The Soviet foreign minister spelled out his government's terms for a settlement at the end of an unproductive four-day official visit to London. Little that was positive emerged from his exchanges with Prime Minister Harold Wilson and Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart.

In a free-wheeling discussion of major world issues with 100 newsmen invited to the Soviet Embassy, Gromyko reflected the posture of toughness which the British reported he had assumed in the talks. His four conditions for a Viet Nam settlement:

1. The "first of all first steps" is to end American air strikes against North Viet Nam, which he called an aggression.

2. Then the states primarily concerned in the crisis should have the chief say on whether to convene a peace conference. He identified those states as "the victim of aggression and the perpetrator of aggression" — North Viet Nam and the United States.

3. Next, "As regards the presence of American troops in South Viet Nam they have no business there and should go back home." He labeled them "invaders on foreign soil."

4. Finally, as to the troubles inside South Viet Nam — where Red Viet Cong guerrillas are fighting to seize power — these questions "must be resolved only by the South Vietnamese themselves."

Gromyko's demands in London coincided with the launching of what seemed to be a dual offensive by the Soviet government and Communist party.

Mystery Shadows Cosmonaut Return

MOSCOW (AP) — Two Soviet cosmonauts returned safely to earth inside their spaceships Friday after proving man can leave an orbiting satellite, float in outer space, and perhaps some day build space stations for interplanetary travel. Both were reported well.

A delay of nearly five hours in announcing their landing after 26 hours aloft and an unusual site for returning the satellite to earth cast the only shadow over their historic flight. A West German observatory detected from radio signals possible landing trouble.

But official Soviet announcements gave no hint of trouble. After the landing the official Soviet news agency Tass said "their program of scientific experiments was carried out in full."

The Russians could claim these dramatic firsts:

Claims State Can't Afford Using Guard

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace left the door open Friday for President Johnson to federalize the Alabama National Guard to protect participants in a 50 mile civil rights march.

Meantime, a three-judge federal court at New Orleans rejected Alabama's attempt to block the march from Selma to Montgomery. Representatives of Wallace had asked the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for a stay of enforcement in permitting the march, which was approved by a lower federal court.

MAY APPEAL AGAIN

Charles Crook, a Montgomery attorney representing Wallace, said Alabama could appeal Friday night's federal court decision to the U.S. Supreme Court but that he would have to confer with the governor before deciding what action to take.

Earlier in the day, Wallace sent a telegram to the President which stopped just short of asking Johnson to federalize the Alabama National Guard. The governor told the President he was willing to call up the guard but that the state couldn't afford it.

Wallace said in the telegram he concurred with resolutions adopted by the Alabama Legislature. They said the federal government should bear the costs since a federal judge has permitted the Selma-Montgomery march.

The U.S. government would pay the costs only if the guard is placed under federal control. The implication clearly was that Wallace and the legislature wanted the guard federalized.

The President, keeping in close touch at his Texas ranch, had said Thursday night he would call up the guard if Wallace was unable or unwilling to do so.

Wallace's telegram: "Mr. President, I am willing to do whatever is necessary to maintain peace and order, including calling the Alabama National Guard. However, our state is financially unable to bear this burden. Therefore, I respectfully inform you that I do concur with the actions of the Alabama Legislature."

Wallace sent the telegram shortly after U.S. Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. in Montgomery turned down the governor's request to stay the order permitting the 50-mile march starting Sunday.

Selma police took more than 350 demonstrators into custody Friday when they converged on the residential area where Mayor Joseph T. Smitherman lives. They were taken into the city courtroom.

Many were white, some of them clergymen.

"We have had trouble with you folks before and we are taking you into custody to protect you," said Wilson Baker, the city's public safety director.

The demonstrations were aimed at stirring action by white residents toward racial talks. At one spot, a white man pushed a priest. Both were taken into custody.

About 400 marchers went to the Selma City Hall, held a brief demonstration of singing and praying outside, then left. Two men arrested Wednesday near the mayor's house were freed on bond.

The legislature unanimously adopted resolutions asking Wallace to inform the President that Alabama was not financially able to provide police security for the march and calling on all citizens to keep away from the marchers.

RED AGITATION

Sukarno Takes Petroleum Firms

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Spurred by Communist agitation, President Sukarno announced Friday the Indonesian government is taking over management of two U.S. oil companies and a Dutch one.

The three companies are Caltex and Stanvac, both American-owned, and Shell Oil, largely Dutch-owned. Their installations are worth several hundred million dollars.

Sukarno made his decision in less than 15 minutes in a meeting with the third deputy premier, Chaerul Saleh, who also is minister of basic industries and mining, in charge of the oil industry.

Saleh went to see Sukarno after brief but noisy Communist-led demonstrations. The leaders handed him a petition demanding the seizure of Stanvac, Caltex and Shell.

Diplomatic observers here considered the takeover of the oil companies another victory for the Indonesian Communist party.

The government is expected to try to arrange for foreign employees to continue to operate the oil companies under figurehead Indonesian managers. Government officials said the management of the three companies would work under government supervision.

The government is trying to negotiate such an arrangement for the U.S. rubber plantations seized last month in northern Sumatra.

Sukarno said nothing about compensation. The government has taken the position in previous takeovers that it owes nothing because it is only assuming the management.

Saleh said nothing about the Pan American Oil Co., a U.S. firm that does oil exploration in central Sumatra.

One American oil executive who refused to be identified by name said "this is expropriation."

The Indonesian government mindful of the substantial amount in foreign currency it gets from oil, has in the past resisted several attempts by the Communist-led workers to seize the companies.

It was not learned what prompted Sukarno to take the measure against the oil companies at this time. The companies hold a trump card. They retain transport and marketing facilities. Without their help, Indonesia will find it hard to get its oil to market.

In the past month the government has seized and closed five U.S. government libraries in Indonesia.

Salinger Snuffs Marriage Report

NEW YORK (AP) — Pierre Salinger characterized as premature Friday a report from Paris that he will marry French journalist Nicole Helene Gillmann.

"I think it's a little premature to talk about marriage. I'm not divorced yet," the former White House press secretary said.

He made the comment in New York while on a business trip.

The Paris report, attributed to reliable informants, said the wedding was planned for later this year and that Miss Gillmann, 26, who works for the French magazine Realities, had met Salinger in California last year when he was running for the Senate.

Corn Production To Drop In 1965

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department Friday estimated farmers will plant 66,888,000 acres of corn this year, down 0.7 per cent from the 1964 planting.

The Crop Reporting Board said that with average yields that acreage would produce about 4.1 billion bushels of corn for grain, compared with last year's output of 3,548,604,000 bushels of the key livestock feed.

The board said farmers indicate plans, as of March 1, to plant a total of 307 million acres for 1965 harvest. The total planted acreage in 1964 for 59 crops was 306 million acres, of which 293 million acres were harvested.

Friday's report, a summary of farmers' intentions to plant as of March 1, estimated that 257 million acres will be planted to 17 major crops this year. Acreage planted to these crops in 1964 total about 261 million acres. The acreage for the 17 principal crops usually is about 85 per cent of the total, according to the board.

Presidential Succession

Outside of the "Great Society" programs such as medical care for elderly persons and federal aid to education, the 89th Congress is also faced with the issue of presidential and vice-presidential succession in case of death or disability.

It seems strange that the country would still face such a vital question with a precedent set in 1841 playing a large part. But it was in that year that the nation's first test case in that matter came to light.

The presidential succession clause of the Constitution states:

"In case of the removal of the President from office, or of his death, resignation, or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the Vice-President, and the Congress may by law provide for the case of removal, death, resignation, or inability, both of the President and Vice-President, declaring what officer shall then act as President, and such officer shall act accordingly, until the disability be removed, or a President shall be elected."

There is some question as to the reference of the words "the same" in the first clause of the above-quoted stipulation. Do they mean that the powers and duties of the presidency shall devolve on the vice president, or is it the office of the presidency itself that shall devolve?

Historical scholars who have probed the records of debates held during the Constitutional Convention of 1787 are in general agreement that the pronoun "same" referred to the words "powers and duties", not to the office of the presidency itself. The ambiguity appears to have arisen when a committee of style was formed to revise the wording of the articles agreed upon by the convention.

As pointed out above, the matter of presidential succession had its initial test in 1841. In that year, William Henry Harrison — after serving as President for only a month—died. Vice-President John Tyler, despite objections raised by former President Adams, Secretary of State Daniel Webster and several members of Congress, assumed the title of President, took the oath and gave an inaugural address.

In his diary, Adams noted that Tyler's assumption of the "office" of the presidency was a "construction in direct violation both of the grammar and context of the Constitution, which confers upon the Vice-President, on the decease of the President, not the office, but the powers and duties of the same office."

But Tyler's precedent has been accepted on seven subsequent occasions when vice presidents have become presidents through succession. Thus it has assumed the force of law. As such, it is this precedent that creates the problem being faced by the current Congress.

Of course, President Tyler was dealing with a situation wherein Harrison had died in office. Therefore there is really no precedent for a disabled president. Chester Arthur, Thomas Marshall and Richard Nixon all refused to act in the capacity of president even though Presidents Garfield, Wilson and Eisenhower were disabled.

Certainly, the above precedents, revealing a lack of clarity in our official procedures, should be thrashed out in debate and new legislation in the 89th Congress.

Personal Privacy

In view of the tendency of the federal government, ever since the 1930s, to put the individual citizens of this country in glass fish bowls, so that their every movement can be watched, one action on the part of organized labor seems at least worthy of comment. Labor has expressed opposition to and is working actively against various kinds of lie-detector tests and other snooping performances.

One top labor official said: "We don't like people having to work under any kind of surveillance — peepholes, see-through mirrors, hidden cameras or microphones, lie detectors or anything like that. The warning signaled a broadening of the AFL-CIO's war on what it calls infringement of "the basic right of American citizens to personal privacy."

There can be no doubt that the right to privacy was contemplated in the Constitution of the United States. Neither can there be any doubt that there was a good purpose behind this guarantee nor that the need for this assurance is as strong now as when the Constitution was written.

Akron, O., became the first city in the nation to adopt what it called a "lie-box" ban. The city council voted to bar use of lie detectors as a condition of getting or keeping a job, either in public or private employment.

Five states now outlaw use of the lie detector in employment situations. They are Alaska, California, Massachusetts, Oregon and Rhode Island.

Although other kinds of snooping devices are under attack, the fight is centered particularly against lie-detector instruments.

The polygraph is a sensitive device for electrically measuring a person's uncontrolled physiological reaction to questioning. It senses and records changes in blood pressure and pulse, breathing rate and electrical conductivity of the skin. Wiggles in one or more of the lines charting a "normal truth pattern" may indicate that the person being questioned is lying.

Used in police work for years, the polygraph is now widely used by government agencies to check on their employees. The government defends its use of the lie detector as valuable in screening applicants for jobs, investigating thefts on military bases and in post offices, checking on information leaks, and in security cases. Naturally, there would seem to be a wide difference between using the devices on security-risk employees and those in work not related to national security.

In some government work and in some places of business and trade, certain types of surveillance are an absolute necessity, as a means of detecting and preventing espionage or as a protection against dishonesty. Even so, the matter of laying psychologically bare the mind of every employee is something that is repugnant to most people. For one thing, it smacks too strongly of practices in dictator countries, where every effort is made to control the minds as well as the actions of every individual.

When men go to the moon, they will find that earthshine there is far greater than the glow of moonlight on their home planet.

Norwegians are probably the world's champion cheese consumers. They eat nearly 20 pounds a year per person.

Tea, which today is a popular drink, at one time is believed to have been used primarily as a medicine.

Johnson Faces Grim Choice

Race Against Time In Viet Nam War

PRESIDENT JOHNSON is grappling with a grim choice in a deadly race against time in the intensifying air war in Viet Nam.

He must decide between two fateful alternatives:

- (1) To authorize massive air strikes to destroy the Communists' crucial airfields, rail lines, marshaling yards, industrial plants and other vital installations and facilities at Hanoi and its main port at nearby Haiphong.

(So far, in the "controlled" bombing policy now in effect, these vital targets have been untouched. Only relatively minor ones are being hit in U. S. and South Viet Nam air attacks.)

- (2) To allow the Reds sufficient time to install Russian SAM (ground-to-air) missiles capable of imposing as high as 85 per cent losses on attacking planes. Such losses now average less than 3 per cent.

Intelligence authorities estimate the lethally destructive SAM missiles will be operative around April 1.

Directly involved in the President's "agonizing" decision is another equally stark problem — taking forceful measures to prevent the Soviet from delivering these fearful anti-aircraft weapons.

This would mean stopping their ships from transporting the SAMs.

Freighters loaded with these missiles are known to be en route to North Viet Nam.

Ships and planes of the U. S.

Seventh Fleet are tracking five Russian vessels, including two with large hatches of the type used for loading missiles. All the freighters loaded their cargoes at Black Sea ports.

Navy authorities estimate they will arrive at Haiphong by March 25.

SAME OLD STORY — Barring the suspected missile-carrying freighters from North Viet Nam would mean a direct and immediate confrontation between the U. S. and Russia.

The consequence would be an intense escalation of the protracted Viet Nam war.

As has long been the case, President Johnson's inner council is split squarely down the middle over taking such a fateful calculated risk.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff are strongly arguing that one of two courses must be pursued: Either launch all-out air attacks to demolish the Reds' crucial plants, depots and other installations and facilities at Hanoi and Haiphong, or use the Seventh Fleet to turn back the Soviet ships carrying the deadly SAM missiles.

If the devastating air strikes are not ordered, then the Joint Chiefs contend the only tenable alternative is to prevent the killer SAMs from being installed.

Otherwise, they warn, air strikes will become prohibitively costly.

Secretary Rusk, Secretary McNamara and McGeorge Bundy, highly influential special White House adviser on foreign affairs, are vigorously against both courses.

THEY FAVOR employing the Seventh Fleet to assist South Viet Nam to thwart Red smuggling of arms and guerrillas to the Viet Cong. But the trio is opposed to other naval measures, particularly intervening with Russian shipping, on the ground they would constitute acts of war.

The Bundy-Rusk-McNamara position is that the "controlled" bombing policy now in effect will exert sufficient pressure on Hanoi to bring about negotiations for a settlement.

The Joint Chiefs are convinced it is an unsound theory. As evidence, they cite the "controlled" bombing has had no effect on Hanoi.

It is the emphatic view of the military leaders that the Ho Chi Minh regime can be "brought to the conference table" only by two immediate stringent measures: Massive air attacks on the key Hanoi-Haiphong targets, coupled with a tight Seventh Fleet blockade of the North Viet Nam coast to bar Soviet and other arms shipments and supplies.

So far, President Johnson has given no indication what he is likely to do.

Meanwhile, in the past week, two Soviet merchant ships — Okhotsk and Bryansk — unloaded large quantities of military equipment at Haiphong, under cover of darkness and drum-tight security. There were numerous crates, but none large. No missiles are believed to have been aboard these vessels.

The SAM is capable of firing both conventional and nuclear warheads. It has a range of some 30 miles, and an altitude of more than 80,000 feet. With a nuclear warhead, SAM can destroy all planes within a radius of several miles.

Cuba is heavily armed with SAMs. A number of Russian "technicians" are still manning these weapons. Cuban crews to take them over are being trained both at home and in the Soviet.

FOREIGN FLASHES — Turkey and Poland have signed a new trade agreement totaling $24 million. . . . Red China and Cuba have expanded their five-year trade agreement. An intriguing aspect of this deal is that it calls for the "transport of cargo and passengers" by plane between the two countries. And amazingly, in view of the furious tiring between Peking and Moscow, these planes are four-engine Ilyushin turboprops. THAT RUSSIA HAS SOLD TO RED CHINA. This raises a lot of doubt as to just how real their apparent feuding actually is.

Court's Decision Again Under Fire

THE SUPREME COURT has handed down another decision on censorship which will shock many and elate others. Once more, the battle will be joined over the causes and effect of this nation's declining morality. Unfortunately for us, more heat than light will be generated by the debate. For in these murky times, sense and logic have fallen victim to name-calling.

The man who has the temerity to criticize the high court invites being tarred as a John Birch or is asked immediately by his bristling antagonists if he wants to impeach Chief Justice Warren. In other circles a defender of the Supreme Court's recent decisions is immediately labeled a Communist, or a member of Americans for Democratic Action, or a subverter of the young.

The most recent Supreme Court ruling concerns a film banned by New York state as obscene because it too closely depicted what a good many citizens experience only in the privacy of their bedrooms. The honorable majority did not defend or condemn the content of the film, "A Stranger Knocks," but simply held that the New York censors had exceeded the Constitutional powers. In the future, said the court, the burden of proof in obscenity cases would rest with the accuser and not the defendant.

THIS WRITER WOULD find more consistency in what is an examination of the due process clause in the Constitution if the Supreme Court applied the same doctrine in Internal Revenue cases. The honorable justices, however, side with those who believe that in tax cases you are guilty until proven innocent, a perversion of the American legal heritage. But this is no reason why there should be an automatic rejection of the high court's interpretation of Constitutional rights.

Those of us who attempt a reasonable approach to the question of law can agree that any censorship of films, books or other forms of communication should be subject to stringent controls. There should be full and speedy review by the courts of any obscenity finding; otherwise we are at the whim and mercy of bureaucrats who may or may not be overly sensitive to the prurient. Where the man of sensibility can part company with the Supreme Court and its liberal defenders is in the body of legal dogma which holds that nothing, or almost nothing, is obscene, lascivious, pornographic, or damaging to the morals and psyche of those who observe it.

THIS, OF COURSE, is nonsense. Obscenity and pornography have their effect on even the most balanced adult. And those who seek out the salacious in print or movie cannot pretend that their interest is purely sociological. They like the little twitches they derive. In most instances, this titillation is harmless, but the cynic who says that no girl was ruined by reading a book doesn't know what he is talking about. What we read, what we see, what we experience — all of these have an effect on our actions and our attitudes, as any clinical psychologist could tell us.

This conditioning affects us, just as other forms of conditioning contribute to the juvenile delinquency rate. The same people who tell us that environment is the cause of so much of our frighteningly high crime rate also argue that environment has nothing to do with the greater incidence of rape and molestation. There is obscenity as well as pornography, and the Supreme Court's pussyfooting failure to set bounds to what is permissible under the First Amendment, and what is not, simply begs the question. A judge on the bench may duck the question by ruling that the "novels" of Henry Miller or the scatological dreams of a William Burroughs are art and therefore exempt. But it is no province of the courts to sit in judgment of the artistic. They are, however, charged with deciding if the book or film before them offends society and encourages the emulation of young people who have no conceptual vantage point from which to judge.

THE SUPREME COURT will continue to say that anything goes until there is a real feedback from Mr. and Mrs. American Public. Until that time, it can as well be argued that the present spate of filth derives from our moral failures. . . . that our collapsing morality is the result of what the Supreme Court now permits booksellers and movie operators to peddle. My own personal reaction to these Supreme Court decisions is neutral. I have no answer, no measure, no positive program. I do not sit in judgment on this or that book, perhaps because most of the "sexy" ones bore me. I have yet to find a single person who read Fanny Hill to the last page, and this may be some sort of answer.

As a conservative, I would like to see the problem solved in the home, where moral suasion can operate. I do not want Big Brother to tell me or anyone else what movie to see — or how much of it I can be trusted to see. At the same time I do not like to see pornography awash on neighborhood streets. This defines the dilemma. When the Supreme Court realizes this, we may have more sense and less preaching from the marble palace of laws on Capitol Hill.

Otepkka Decision May Be Required

SECRETARY OF STATE

Dean Rusk at last may have to make a final and fully public decision in the case of Otto F. Otepkka.

The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee is nudging him on the case. The press is asking embarrassing questions. Even the President, as he admitted in his last press conference, has discussed the case with Rusk. And he assures the nation that the secretary of state "will do the right thing."

Rusk's decision is starkly simple in the impact it will have, no matter how complex the process by which it is reached. If he dismisses Otepkka, he will serve notice on every other employee in his department, and throughout government, that honest, good does not count and what does count is how hard you polish apples.

If Rusk reinstates Otepkka, putting him back to work and not just assigning him to some face-saving boondoggle, decent public servants everywhere can take heart.

Otepkka's case is not complicated in itself. As the State Department officer in charge of security clearances, he has earned some of the highest awards and commendations his colleagues can bestow. He has no political axe to grind. He has simply done a good job over a long period.

WHEN STATE Department standards on security clearances were quietly relaxed several years ago, Otepkka continued doing his assigned job as best he knew how. Asked about it by a congressional committee, he candidly described some 150 "waivers" of security procedures which enabled State to hire persons before or without the usual clearances.

His reward was a virtual conspiracy of harassment within his own office. Evidence has been submitted that three rather highly placed State Department officials wired his office, searched it, even checked his waste-paper basket, bugged his phones and in general placed him under surveillance, apparently fearing that he would tell even more to Congress about lax security procedures. Further, it has been admitted that the State Department officials gave untruthful and evasive testimony under oath in denying that they put listening devices in Otepkka's telephone or that they knew this was being done.

IT IS INCREDIBLE that Otto Otepkka, the one man against whom no charges of duplicity or lying have been made, has had to suffer while those who deal in half-truths or no truths under oath were coddled; two were permitted to reign, the other continues in a high job. The man the State Department fired was Otepkka. Pending appeal of his dismissal, he has been assigned to flunky chores in a closet-sized office.

The State Department's delayed decision, along with its preferential handling of those who harassed Otepkka, has been a tacit lesson bureaucratic hypocrisy that should be corrected before it becomes a Washington way of life.

Until it is corrected, Dean Rusk will appear to stand with those who put aside ethics and truth to serve the devious expediency of office politics, not with those who want to serve their department loyally and honestly.

'MOLLY BROWN'

Spacemen Practice For Twin Venture

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—“Molly Brown, Molly Brown. This is flight control. You are no go—repeat—no go. Prepare to re-enter after the first orbit.”

“This is Molly Brown. Roger. Preparing to re-enter after the first orbit.”

Luckily this exchange of message Friday didn't concern an actual mission, but a simulation of the first manned Gemini flight to give tracking station personnel a final practice run before the scheduled launch Tuesday.

If the mission had been real, then astronauts Virgil I. (Gus) Grissom and John W. Young would have had to bring their Gemini two-man space capsule down to an emergency landing after one orbit instead of the planned three.

“Molly Brown” is the unofficial name given the spacecraft and it will be called by this title while in orbit. The official name is “Gemini 3.”

Astronauts and space officials have dubbed the spacecraft for the Broadway show and hit movie, “The Unsinkable Molly Brown.”

The voice acknowledging the no-go order came from Grissom. Astronaut Air Force Maj. L. Gordon Cooper gave the command while acting as spacecraft communicator in the mission control center.

The $56-million tracking network, run by more than 14,000 technicians scattered all over the globe, keeps in constant touch with the spacecraft.

More than 40 men sat in the darkened control room here. All wore earphones and watched a big map on the front wall. A miniature representation of the Gemini spacecraft, lighted a brilliant red, moved slowly across the map.

Yellow circles on the map lit up as the spacecraft came within range of the tracking stations during the simulated flight.

To give flight controllers an unexpected problem, flight director Christopher Columbus Kraft Jr. programmed the imaginary emergency.

Another problem thrown in by Kraft was putting fumes in the suit circuit, which were cleared out by an auxiliary fan in the spacecraft.

Students and faculty of the Northeast Department of Music will assist with the festival.

Entered in the festival are choral groups from Winnsboro elementary and high school, Crowley elementary and high school, Lee Junior High, Lake Shore Elementary School, Central High, Riser Elementary School, Springhill junior high and high school, Jonesboro-Hodge High, Ouachita High, Neville High, Wisner High, Delhi Junior high and high school, Holly Ridge High, Jefferson Junior High and Bastrop High. Several of the schools have more than one group entered.

PROTECTIVE CUSTODY

New Tactic Used In Selma

SELMA, Ala. (AP)—City police adopted a new tactic Friday and took more than 350 civil rights demonstrators into “protective custody” when they tried to picket the home of Mayor Joseph T. Smitherman.

“We have trouble with you folks before,” the city public safety director, Wilson Baker, told the demonstrators, “and we are taking you into custody to protect you.”

Baker said he could hold them as long as necessary to protect them.

The picketing attempt followed a statement from the demonstrators that they would go into white residential sections in an effort to draw white citizens into biracial talks.

An unidentified white man struck a white demonstrator in the face when he stepped on a lawn while police herded the demonstrators to buses which took them to City Hall.

The blow caused the demonstrator's nose to bleed, but he apparently was not seriously injured. He rejoined the group. There was no arrest.

In another incident, a white man pushed a priest. Police pushed both of them into one of the school buses used to convey the demonstrators.

Demonstrators taken to City Hall were first herded into a city traffic courtroom and into an alley beside the building. Later, they were transferred to the Negro Community Center, a yellow brick building behind the City Hall.

W. S. Greer, a coordinator for Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said the demonstrations at the mayor's home would continue.

Before embarking on the picketing action, the demonstrators issued a statement through a white minister, the Rev. Jack M. Tucker of the First Methodist church, Windsor, N.Y.

The statement said the white people of Selma have “attempted to detach themselves from the present conflict.”

It said demonstrators would go into the white residential section to help establish “meaningful ways of dialogue and communication between the responsible white community and the responsible Negro community.”

About the time the picketing started, the mayor issued a statement which said that if the demonstrators intended to help the community, “they should cooperate with us and maintain law and order.”

“These people have said they want to be my conscience and that they want to resolve things in my heart although all the demonstrators are from outside the city and state and know nothing of the problems of this community,” Smitherman said.

Earlier Friday, about 400 demonstrators marched to City Hall to protest the arrest and jailing of pickets near the mayor's house Wednesday.

James Orange, an SCLC worker, said he was aware that those arrested Wednesday had been released but said the group wanted to protest anyway.

Orange told Baker that they also protested a statement by the mayor praising local law enforcement officers for keeping peace. Orange said Negroes disagreed and demanded that the mayor retract the statement.

Officers made no attempt to stop the march.

“Federal judges say let them march,” said Baker. “I'm all for marching.”

Is Viet Nam Victory Possible?

By ARTHUR J. DOMMEN
SAIGON (UPI)—The United States is now deep into the fourth year of an increasingly bloody battle for this land of mountains, jungles, rice paddies and Communist guerrillas.

Since May, 1961, when the U.S. first committed itself to support of the anti-Communist government, it has poured in vast quantities of men and machines.

From rifles to rockets, from jeeps to tanks, from helicopters to jet bombers, the United States has moved in billions of dollars worth of the most sophisticated weapons on its arsenal.

Its Brains

It has given freely of its brains, its blood and its lives. All has been to little avail. The world's mightiest nation has been unable to find the key to success in Southeast Asia.

From the day it set foot in this unhappy land, the U.S. course in the fight against the Communists has been downhill. There is one more thing that the United States has committed here: Prestige. This is a crucial element in the struggle that now is raging.

American prestige has been laid so on the line that defeat has become virtually an unacceptable alternative to more and bigger war.

Only last month, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara told a committee of the Congress that the United States had little choice but to make its stand in Viet Nam.

This commitment in Southeast Asia also finds voice in the so-called domino theory, much and loosely thrown about by American pundits and politicians.

If the theory is correct—and there are doubts that it is—the fall of South Viet Nam would, like one domino toppling all the others in a line, lead to the Communization of Asia.

America's line of defense, runs the theory, would be pushed back to Pearl Harbor.

Though this may be a more pessimistic view than the facts warrant, it has some effect on the minds of the U.S. strategists who are responsible for the recent series of bombing raids against North Viet Nam.

The bombings represent the crux of the political-economic-diplomatic dilemma facing the U.S.

The Dilemma

That dilemma is this: —The Communist are running a successful guerrilla war against South Vietnamese troops which now have the total backing of the Americans. The Reds have shown no indication they intend to lose over the conference table a battle they are winning in the field.

Given their expansionist, revolutionary philosophy and propaganda, it would be very difficult for them to back out in the face of American bombs without making the same admission Nikita Khrushchev made at the time of the Cuban missile crisis — that Communism is, to coin a word, vincible.

—The United States, by the very same token, must demonstrate graphically to the Chinese Communists, as it did to the Russians, that they can be beaten.

So far it has not been able to do so on the land, where the Communist have special ability, special training, virtually unlimited patience.

As a result, the United States has taken to the air, attacking what the Communists call their "sacred soil."

Can United States bombs convince the Communists they are vincible? In other words, is victory possible?

These are questions only the Communists can answer — and perhaps they themselves have not yet calculated the cost of getting what they want. In any case, they have not yet shown their hand.

No one can say what the Communists are planning.

Neither can anyone say what the Americans are doing.

The fact is that by comparison with the Communist's objectives, those of the Americans are as muddy as Mississippi River water.

What the Communists want in Viet Nam is clear. They want a revolution that will lay the country in their hands. They have been fighting this revolution, slowly, patiently, but successfully for more than 10 years.

Rebel Propaganda

It has not been easy to convince a people who enjoy life in a countryside at peace to leave their houses and their lands, go into the jungle and live the primitive, dangerous life of guerrillas.

It is even harder when the guerrilla aim looks so hopeless — as it did in 1954 — to defeat and overthrow an established government backed by a powerful military armed with American weapons and money.

This is why the rebels employed almost from the first a carefully balanced program of persuasion and coercion. They propagandized relentlessly, in order to persuade.

When that failed, they employed a calculated program of terror and murder strong enough to impress on the peasants their growing strength, but not strong enough to turn the people against them.

Targets of that terror were village level officials who represented the authority of government but who are too numerous and too widely distributed to be adequately protected by it.

Gradually, the rural peasantry began to take a long second look at the officialdom in the countryside and the central government in Saigon.

For centuries past, the central government had been the enemy of the peasant. It took his rice for taxes and his sons for the army. In return, it gave him little except rules and regulations.

When the war in South Viet Nam began, the rebels operated in no more than platoon strength. They were able to ambush a truck here, or knock over an isolated outpost there.

But as they accumulated American weapons from the bodies of the government dead, they replaced their homemade firearms and recruited young men to make their platoons into companies.

Central Vs. Cong

As the government began making larger efforts — requiring more and more troops — to defeat the Hanoi-directed rebellion, the peasants began to bear ants their growing strength, but not strong enough to turn the people against them.

Today in South Viet Nam, it is an open contest between the American-backed central government and the Hanoi-backed Viet Cong to see who actually rules the countryside.

The Viet Cong claim to have "liberated" more than three quarters of the total territory of the nation, and to have established schools, hospitals, public works.

The Viet Cong have designated the cities as the last stronghold of the Saigon regime and its "American Masters" — and the fact is that the government troops do spend much of their time in the relative safety of urban areas.

They are ferried about in helicopters. When they take to the roads it is in armored cars and tanks. Still they are ambushed.

Using the Communist technique of two steps forward, one step back, the Viet Cong practice a flexibility in tactics that the government has never been able to achieve.

The turn of the year saw them experimenting with regimental-sized actions at Binh Gia, a small city east of Saigon, and at An Lao in the north. They succeeded in both instances, wiping out a battalion or more of government troops at each battle.

The result of this turn toward regiment-sized battles led the Americans to use, for the first time, their own planes and pilots in direct attacks on the Viet Cong.

Ho Believes

Ho Chi Minh, the wispy-bearded president of North Viet Nam is believed to feel that the struggle to win the south may take some years yet.

Analysts here believe that Ho and his advisers believe that the fighting will inevitably end in some kind of negotiation.

They are thought to believe that such negotiations can do little harm, so long as the Communists are winning on the battlefield.

North Viet Nam's two main allies, Communist China and the Soviet Union, are looking forward to a Communist victory. But the Soviet Union, especially, is experiencing considerable anxiety over the possibility that the fight could turn into a direct confrontation with the United States.

Apparently the Chinese also are not nearly so anxious to get themselves into a Southeast Asian war as their propaganda would indicate.

There still remain two questions for the Americans. One is what they want in Viet Nam. The other is how they are going to get it.

No one here is quite sure what the Americans do want. Would their strategic power crumble in the Far East if they lost this piece of soil? It is hard to say, but probably not. They

that gave a great beer its name*

Next time you pour Pearl Beer, watch the bubbles rise in the glass. Many years ago, a German brewer watched the same thing. He named the bubbles Perlen or Pearls because they looked like gems.

In Munich, Dortmund and Vienna the name caught on. The word Perle came to mean the sparkle . . . the life . . . of the beer. In Bremen, a famous German brewery chose Perle as the name for its finest lager.

From this very brewery, almost 80 years ago, my family brought both the name and the recipe for our Pearl Beer.

And here in the Country of 1100 Springs, they added one more thing: a perfect brewing water.

That was the start of the Famous Spring Water Formula from the Country of 1100 Springs.

Today we select and balance our ingredients the same old way.

Pearl still becomes the favorite wherever it is sold. And the pearls still rise as lively as ever.

I can tell you that Pearl is a very fine beer.

McKeithen Asks PAR Advice On Higher Education

both the community level and the state level the chances of developing effective community colleges are exactly that — chances," he stated.

Dr. Miller said California and Florida led the nation in providing community junior college educational on a massive scale.

"The new comprehensive community junior colleges have not abandoned their academic programs," he said. "They have simply added to them other programs of occupational, vocational, technical and community service types."

Dr. Taylor said Louisiana needs to face up to a new approach to higher education because students are better educated and more dynamic when they enter college today.

"A new college generation, which has more than doubled in size during the past few years, is depending upon them, forcing the colleges to modernize, personalize, and liberalize the curriculum and to some extent campus life," he said.

He drew applause when he referred to recent student demonstrations at the University of California, adding, "Colleges which yield to demands for privileges and liberties that are clearly harmful rob their students of an essential part of their education."

Later at an afternoon panel, Dr. Lester E. Harrell Jr., director of the Texas Commission on Higher Education, explained how Texas was coordinating its plans for higher education.

He said "it is difficult to see an institution as anything except a gloriously independent entity, but a trend has developed with sufficient momentum to make it inevitable that the coordinated system of state wide higher education is here to stay."

Dr. Harrell said the trend toward coordination will remain because "the exploitation of enrollment, knowledge and educational costs are scattering our efforts and resources in all directions."

Dr. James L. Miller Jr., associate director for research, Southern Regional Education Board, supported the need for coordination in relationship with the development of two-year colleges.

GOP Conservative Believes Party Needs Egghead Talent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the new American Conservative Union, organized to keep conservatism dominant in the Republican party, believes that a healthy dose of eggheadism also would benefit the GOP.

"There are good eggs and bad eggs," says Donald Cogley Bruce. He leaves no doubt that he considers a good egghead a conservative egghead.

The tall, athletic former Indiana congressman heads an infant political movement which — while keeping the farright "extremists" at arm's length — hopes to mobilize conservatives for a 1966 reversal of the 1964 Republican disaster.

Bruce, 43, is starting out with a $400,000 first-year budget, a formidable directorate of 17 veterans of the Goldwater campaign, and a back-up team of 60 volunteer professors, writers, editors, businessmen and former diplomats — all convinced conservatives.

Money and membership forms are beginning to arrive in response to a nationwide direct-mail canvass. Seated in a cubbyhole office that looks too small for his 6-foot-3 frame, Bruce told an interviewer he foresees "several hundred thousand grassroots members," each paying $5 or more in annual dues.

The goal, he said, is: "To build the greatest in-depth conservative voice and action this country has seen, and on a totally responsible basis."

The ACU will engage in state, local and national politics "openly, not clandestinely," Bruce emphasized. He and probably some other members will register as lobbyists to push for conservative causes in Congress.

Members of the John Birch Society are barred from becoming ACU officers or directors, but a Birch spokesman in California, John Rousselet, hinted Friday that there may be a Birch or two on the board, whether ACU knows it or not.

Said Rousselet without explanation: "In looking over their top men — they're all fine people — I'm not sure they've completely complied with any decision to exclude members of the John Birch Society."

Bruce won't discuss the John Birch Society or other ultra conservative groups, but points out that, "It's possible to go so far right that you get around to the left." As far as ACU is concerned, it will seek liaison and cooperation with all other groups — "we don't intend to fight with anyone."

Good-looking and articulate, Bruce looks and sounds like what he is — a radio station manager and commentator in Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania, then a two-term Republican in the House.

He has a broadcaster's respect for ideas and the selling of them. Members of ACU's 60-member advisory assembly, he says, will generate policies and programs; their research and ideas will be converted into leaflets, speech materials and any other form useful for lobbying or campaigning.

Conservatism always has had its academicians, just as the liberals have, says Bruce, "but they haven't been used." ACU intends to use them.

Born in Troutville, Pa., Bruce was a classmate of astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. at Muskogee College, New Concord, Ohio. There he met his wife-to-be, Hope Mitchell. They have two children, Don Jr., 18, and Patricia, 12. The attractive Hope is a full-time volunteer worker in ACU headquarters.

A onetime semipro basketball and sandlot baseball player, Bruce loves sports but nowadays has time only for a little fishing.

His career in congress ended last fall when he decided to try for the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate. Bruce was beaten on the third ballot at the state convention by Russell Bontrager, who was beaten in November by the incumbent Democrat, Sen. Vance Hartke.

BROAD DEMANDS Steel Parties Get Down To Basics

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — Basic steel negotiators, faced with a May 1 strike deadline, start top-level bargaining Monday over some of the broadest contract demands in their collective bargaining history.

This was announced Friday by R. Conrad Cooper, chief industry negotiator, and David J. McDonald, embattled president of the United Steelworkers Union.

It will be the first hard bargaining between the dozen or so key men in the union and industry since company-by-company talks resumed last week after a two-month recess for the steelworkers turbulent and still unsettled election.

The union also announced Friday the addition of two new negotiators to its six-member negotiating team. This was regarded as a sign that the union, torn by the bitter election contest between McDonald and Secretary Treasurer I. W. Abel, was closing ranks for the do-or-die bargaining phase.

The union's strike deadline gives negotiators the shortest period in years to reach agreement on wages and total job security, a union term that covers everything from pensions, holiday pay, overtime and automation to something it calls "dignity on the job."

In a joint statement, Cooper and McDonald said:

"Individual company and union group meetings devoted largely to discussion of local

Parishes Will Feel Voting Law Effects

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach said Friday several parishes in Louisiana have no record of discrimination but will have their literacy tests struck down by the proposed voting rights law because Louisiana, itself, is covered.

Katzenbach also told the House Judiciary Committee that further checking of voting and registration figures in the last election had indicated that Arostock County in Maine and Elmore County in Idaho might be covered by the bill.

Both counties could free themselves from the prohibitions of

Modernization Featured In New Civic Magazine

A new face has been seen around the Monroe Chamber of Commerce. It's red, black and white and on the cover of the latest edition of the chamber's monthly publication.

The magazine has been completely revamped and renamed. It now is printed under the name of "Monroe" and has its first four-page feature this issue.

The first edition has been dubbed the "Modernization Edition," since the lengthy feature deals with the chamber's plans for downtown modernization.

In the article a guide for a better Monroe is given. Three groups, the Monroe City Council, the Monroe - Ouachita Regional Planning Commission and the Downtown Modernization Committee of the chamber, have designed a program for solving recent "growing pains" in the city.

These groups feel that a definite "shift from the central business area is on" and have come up with a master plan, with a "schematic Central Business District Plan" which will take in three large areas for consideration — use of downtown space, vehicular circulation and parking, both on and off the street.

The first step taken in the overall 20-year plan was to

Romanian Dies; Tried To Ease Moscow Control

VIENNA (UPI) — Romanian President Gheorghe Gheorghiu-Dej, architect of his nation's growing independence from Moscow, died Friday in a Bucharest hospital. He was 64.

Gheorghiu-Dej's death was announced by the official Romanian news agency. It came a day after parliament re-elected him president.

The parliament, now in session, was expected to elect a new president soon. Until then, experts said, Gheorghiu-Dej's presidential duties would be assumed by the three vice-chairmen of the state council — Ion Gheorghe Maurer, who is also premier; Stefan Voite and Avram Bunaciu.

Gheorghiu-Dej, who was also the Communist party leader, had been hospitalized with pneumonia and hepatitis. He lapsed into a coma shortly before his death.

The late president was responsible for the shaping of a nationalistic new Romanian policy under which Romania defied the Kremlin's domination of the Communist Eastern European nations.

Gheorghiu-Dej was elected secretary general of the Romanian workers (Communist) party in 1945 and held this post to his death with a one-year break from 1954 to 1955.

He was Romanian vice premier from 1948 to 1952 under the regime of Petre Groza.

In May, 1952, he was appointed prime minister at the request of Moscow, then under Josef Stalin.

On Oct. 4, 1955, he was unanimously elected first secretary of the central committee of the Romanian Communist party and at the same time stepped down as prime minister.

With a bitter cold wind holding down performances in all phases, Neville's quadrangular meet Friday afternoon produced three double winners and one triple winner as the Tigers capped the meet with 110 points.

Knights Hand West Monroe 2nd Loss, 7-6

SHREVEPORT (Special) — Woodlawn's Knights rallied for four runs in the bottom of the seventh inning to hand West Monroe its second loss in as many starts, 7-6, here Friday in a 1-A-AA contest.

The Rebels had scored two runs in the first and second and one in the third and fifth to take a 6-3 lead into the last inning.

But the Knights got two straight doubles, a walk and a single by the pitcher, John Kerley, to take the win and give West Monroe hurler, Bobby Gates, the loss, his first of the year. Kerley took the victory. It was Woodlawn's third win against one setback.

The Rebels collected six hits in the battle, two by second baseman Jimmy Auld, who connected for two doubles and drove in two runs. Jimmy Martin, third sacker, center fielder Floyd Reeves, shortstop Gary Audrich and first baseman Randy Russell had one hit each.

West Monroe meets Bossier City there Monday.

Hope To Get On Winning Side Again

After an unaccustomed trip to the losing side of the ledger last week, Northeast State's track team hopes to move back into the winning column in the Shreveport Relays today.

Northeast finished second in the All-College Meet in Commerce, Tex., last Saturday. The loss was only the second in the past 17 meets for Bob Groselose's Indians and the Tribe coach is hopeful his team can rebound this week on the Byrd High School track.

If history is any indication, it will. Northeast has won every Shreveport Relays it has entered.

The Indians did not compete in the first Relays in 1960 but entered in the second in 1961 and won. They repeated in 1962 and 1963 before rain washed out the last year's meet.

Northeast's opposition is scheduled to include all the Tribe's fellow Gulf States Conference schools, although Groselose said he has learned Southwestern may withdraw because of illness and injuries. Stephen F. Austin of the Lone State Conference is also slated to enter.

Northeast was victimized by injuries last Saturday when several of the team's top men were sidelined. Most of the wounded are scheduled to compete today but how much and how well remains to be seen.

Star hurdler Roger Morgan, sprinter Dalton LeBlanc and half-mile Bobby Keasler are on the Northeast entry list but Groselose said he would have to wait until today to know for sure if they'll be ready. LeBlanc and Keasler did not compete last week and Morgan ran only on relay teams.

The top Northeast entries should be GSC century champ Ronnie Fountain in the 100 and 220, GSC winner Cline Averette in the 440, Gayland LeBlanc in the 880, Roger Mann and Fred Vogel in the hurdles, Jack McDougall in the high jump, John Linta and Paul Hobgood in the pole vault, GSC record holder Gary Walker in the discus and Tommy Slack in the javelin.

Fountain has bests of 9.6 and 21.9 in his events. Other college bests are Averett, 48.0; Gayland LeBlanc, 1:52.8; Mann, 1:41.1 and 38.3; Vogel, 14.5 and 37.6; McDougall, 6-4; Linta and Hobgood, 14.6; Walker, 162-10 1/2; and Slack, 210-8.

ENTRIES 100 and 220 — Fountain, Mike Tabor, Barry Delcambre and possibly Dalton LeBlanc. Morgan may also enter the 220. 440 — Averett, Willis Delhomme, Tommy Poindexter and possibly Dalton LeBlanc.

880 — Gayland LeBlanc, Billy Butler, Jim Bodin and possibly Keasler. Mile — Bill White, Robert Harvison, Phillip Mapp.

Two-mile — Tom Brown, Murrells — Mann, Vogel. 440 Relay — Mann or Dalton LeBlanc, Morgan, Vogel, Fountain, Mike LeBlanc — Delhomme, Averett, LeBlanc, Fountain.

Broad Jump — Mann, McDougall, Triple Jump — McDougall, Pole Vault — Linta, Hobgood, Discus — Walker, Poindexter, Shot Put — Walker, Jack Williams, Javelin — Slack, Louis Howell.

Dick Rhyhan Jr. Takes Lead At Jacksonville

JACKSONVILLE BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Dick Rhyhan Jr. vaulted out of obscurity into the halfway lead of the $57,500 Greater Jacksonville Open in the rain Friday.

Rhyhan shot 34-33—67 for a total of 136, eight under par and one stroke ahead of the field.

But the Columbus, Ohio, golfer, had to share attention with a slimmed-down Phil Rodgers of Perdido Bay, Fla., who is making a comeback at the youthful age of 26.

Rodgers broke the course record with 33-32—65 and moved into second place at 137.

The first day leaders, slender Gardner Dickinson Jr., and British Ryder Cup player, Bernard Hunt faded into the pack when they soared above par with 142 and 143 respectively.

Gary Player of South Africa, failed to make the 146 cutoff as he shot a 76 of 151 total. This was his first miss after finishing in the money his last 10 straight U.S. tournaments.

Jack Nicklaus was best of the Big Three with 141 after a three-under-par 69 in his second round over the 6,906-yard Seiva Marina Country Club.

Arnold Palmer shot 70 for 144. Two foreign players — left-hander Bob Charles of New Zealand and Bruce Devlin of Australia — tied for third at 139, each with a second round 70.

Rhyhan was one of the early starters of the day, teeing off while an all-night rain was still falling and the course was at its soggiest.

"The threesome ahead of us were speeding along like rabbits," Rhyhan said. "We had to hurry to keep up. Maybe it helped not to have time to think about it."

Regularly on the tour for over a year, he has been in the money only twice.

Good putting was credited by both Rhyhan and Rodgers for the best rounds of the day.

Rodgers said he has dieted away 30 pounds and is a trim 172.

"It took a while to get back my timing," he said. "Now for the first time in a year, I feel like I can play well steadily."

Don Howell was the Ouachita loser giving up six hits, walking eight and striking out seven. The loss evened Ouachita's record at 1-1 for the season.

Tom Holmer picked up two hits in four trips and right-fielder Jones went two for two and scored two runs to lead the Bastrop hitters.

Ouachita's Alvin Parker got the game's only triple in the sixth inning and later scored on an error on the Bastrop shortstop.

Ouachita picked up another run in the seventh frame when shortstop Jimmy Valery scored. The game went scoreless until the bottom of the third when Bastrop managed to push one player across the plate for a 1-0 lead. The game went scoreless again for the next full inning before the Rams picked

John David Crow Looking To 1965

By KEITH PRINCE World Sports Editor

During the fall and winter months a few years back it was not uncommon on a Saturday or Sunday afternoon to hear the announcer say, "He breaks clear at the line, he runs completely through two tacklers, he's over for a touchdown. Man, look at that John David Crow."

But those descriptions have been less frequent in recent years, principally because one John David Crow has been viewing more football games from the sidelines than from the backfield due to various injuries which have limited his playing time in the pro football ranks.

Primarily the name John David Crow simply means football — aggressive style — when mentioned by sports fans. But Friday night we had occasion to talk with John David Crow, the man, while he was attending a dinner here as a special guest of Mr. and Mrs. Rollis Smith.

The conversation was quite enlightening and presented a different view of the man whom TV viewers love to watch bowl over people with his forceful charges. Not one time did he give us a scary stiff arm or throw a bone crushing block.

Instead, this was a man who gave us straight answers and threw a most intelligent vocabulary at all questions asked.

titude of winning a place on the team, no matter where they played him — and he's done well for himself."

More or less without thinking, we mentioned the name Joe Namath to Crow and watched his reaction. Possibly the reaction was somewhat disappointing because we have heard several pros talk about Namath's $400,000 grab with unfavorable words. But not Crow.

"I am real happy for the boy," John David said seriously. "Heck, that's what the game is all about. Every player up there tries to get all the money he can. I know I do, and everybody does. Namath just happened along at the right time, had tremendous ability and had a good coach."

It goes without saying that Namath was coached by Paul "Bear" Bryant — the same man who guided Crow through four years of college at Texas A&M where the hard running halfback earned a list of awards as long as your arm, including an All-America berth and selection as the Heisman Trophy Award winner in 1957.

When the name Bryant is mentioned around Crow it is plainly evident that a genuine spark has been hit upon in the big 6-2, 220-pound football star.

"I guess I owe just about everything to Coach Bryant," Crow said soberly. "He is one of my closest friends and I, like everyone who knows him, respect him tremendously."

What makes Bryant such a great coach? "It's hard to put your finger on," the Springhill High graduate said. "He's able to get so very much out of his players. He really says about the same thing other coaches say, except he knows how and when to say it better than any person I've ever been around."

It's pretty well known that Crow was one of 120 boys who began the freshman season at A&M when Bryant came to Aggieland back in 1954. And of that 120, Crow was one of 13 who finished four years of football there and helped the Aggies record a perfect 9-0 record in 1956 to win the Southwest Conference championship.

When talking with John David Crow you get the picture of why he is so devoted to Bear Bryant. But when you look at Bryant's success story at A&M you also get the idea that Bryant probably feels like the "I owe him everything" debt Crow mentioned is paid in full.

It goes without saying that Namath was coached by Paul "Bear" Bryant — the same man who guided Crow through four years of college at Texas A&M where the hard running halfback earned a list of awards as long as your arm, including an All-America berth and selection as the Heisman Trophy Award winner in 1957.

When the name Bryant is mentioned around Crow it is plainly evident that a genuine spark has been hit upon in the big 6-2, 220-pound football star.

"I guess I owe just about everything to Coach Bryant," Crow said soberly. "He is one of my closest friends and I, like everyone who knows him, respect him tremendously."

What makes Bryant such a great coach? "It's hard to put your finger on," the Springhill High graduate said. "He's able to get so very much out of his players. He really says about the same thing other coaches say, except he knows how and when to say it better than any person I've ever been around."

It's pretty well known that Crow was one of 120 boys who began the freshman season at A&M when Bryant came to Aggieland back in 1954. And of that 120, Crow was one of 13 who finished four years of football there and helped the Aggies record a perfect 9-0 record in 1956 to win the Southwest Conference championship.

When talking with John David Crow you get the picture of why he is so devoted to Bear Bryant. But when you look at Bryant's success story at A&M you also get the idea that Bryant probably feels like the "I owe him everything" debt Crow mentioned is paid in full.

White and aides Wallace Hargan, Ralph Lane, George Luffey and Leon Manley have emphasized fundamentals, blocking

Federal Funds Available For Out Of Doors

By SAM HANNA Outdoor Editor

BATON ROUGE — Director Lamar Gibson said Friday night the State Parks and Recreation Commission will receive $1,237,000 in federal funds next fiscal year for outdoor recreation facilities.

Gibson told the Louisiana Wildlife Federation, opening its three-day convention here, that his department hoped to have a comprehensive plan of outdoor facilities in the hands of the federal government by May 12.

"This plan is necessary before we can receive the federal funds," he said. "We can use that money for planning, acquiring and developing outdoor facilities."

Gibson said he realized that federal aid was an unpopular subject especially in North Louisiana.

But he added, "I'm not advocating federal funds, I'm advocating it if the majority of people in a community want it."

Gibson said the Parks Commission would ask the legislature for $34,000 to administer the federal program.

"We could get by for $17,000, but we're going to ask for $34,000. You've got to have some travel," he said.

The federal funds will become available under the Land and Water Conservation Act of 1964.

Gibson said he hoped each police jury would appoint an advisory committee to work up plans in order to receive the federal funds.

He noted that the federal money would be available on a 50-50 basis with the state government.

He added, "If your parish or city is not in this plan, it's not too late. As soon as it's approved it will become obsolete."

He was referring to the comprehensive inventory of outdoor facilities to be submitted to the Department of the Interior by May 12.

Gibson was the principle speaker at the opening night session of the 26th annual convention.

Kathy Whitworth Fires 66 Taking Tourney Lead

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Kathy Whitworth, a tall Texan from San Antonio, shot one of the lowest scores in memory here Friday to take the second round lead of the $10,000 St. Petersburg Women's Open golf tournament.

Miss Whitworth, 25, carded nine hole rounds of 34 and 32 for a five-under-par 66 over the 6,009-yard, par 35-36-71 Sunset Country Club course.

This gave her an 18 hole total of 136 and a three stroke edge over the field of 36 pros and about 60 amateurs entered in the tournament, first of the season for the LPGA.

First round leader Marilyn Smith finished the second 18 with a 71 for a 36-hole total of 139 and second place.

Mickey Wright, Betsy Cullen and Sandra Haynie were tied for third at 141.

A hot putter helped place Miss Whitworth in the lead. She scored six birdies and one bogey and hasn't three-putted a green in 36 holes.

and tackling, in the spring workouts, which began Feb. 16.

"We feel we have had a very successful spring practice," White said. "We still have a very young squad with a lot of sophomores. Most of them saw more action than is usual in a freshman season last year, however, and have worked hard this spring."

"This has been an eager group and everybody has been hustling well," White continued.

He said injuries had been held to a minimum during the drills, indicating the players were in better than average physical condition.

One of Northeast's all-time football greats, Stewart (Smoke) Stover, has been assisting the staff during the drills. Stover, who played on the 1938 and 1939 Indian teams and now makes his home in Monroe, is a linebacker with the Kansas City Chiefs and has been working primarily with Indian linebackers.

The three Northeast units, relatively equal in strength, will wear maroon, white and red uniforms today.

AAU Refuses To Enter Dispute Regarding Bikila

NEW YORK (AP) — The Amateur Athletic Union is refusing to get into the controversy over marathon champion Abebe Bikila's amateur status if he runs here April 21 in connection with the opening of the World's Fair.

It's strictly an Ethiopian problem, AAU Executive Director Don Hull indicated Friday in issuing the following statement:

"We have invited Bikila to run in the Boston marathon, take part in the World's Fair opening ceremonies and other competitions."

The Ethiopian Sports Federation warned that Bikila might be jeopardizing his amateur career and make himself ineligible for the 1968 Olympics if he participates in a commercial venture such as the World's Fair.

However, the sports division of the Imperial Bodyguards, of which Bikila is a member, protested the federation's action.

Apparently the matter has gone to Emperor Haile Selassie and a ruling has been made in favor of the project. The guard's division commander, Col. Bekele Gizaw, said the guards had won their case.

Bikila, only man ever to win consecutive Olympic marathons, plans to compete in Australia before flying to New York.

Frick Pleased Murakami Will Rejoin Giants

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick said Friday that he was pleased—if it's true—that Japan's Masanori Murakami plans to rejoin the San Francisco Giants for 1965.

"I haven't had any official notification but newsmen in the training camps here tell me that Murakami is reported returning to the United States," Frick said.

"This is what I have insisted on."

"I warned that if the Giant contract were not honored, we would be forced to break our long and pleasant relationship with Japanese baseball. Of course, if the contract is honored, everything is normal again."

Murakami, the first Japanese to play in the major leagues, signed a contract to pitch for the Giants in 1965, but later changed his mind and decided to remain home and play with the Osaka Nankai Hawks.

When Frick warned of a possible break in relations with the Japanese, Japan Baseball Commissioner Yushu Uchimura too action.

Uchimura said last Tuesday that he had advised Murakami that the pitcher should join the Giants.

The Japanese commissioner said the Nankai Hawks officials agreed with his view but insisted that Murakami return to the Osaka club in 1966.

ST. JOHN'S COACH Title Game Caps Lapchick's Tilts

NEW YORK (AP) — The last one is going to be a tough one for Joe Lapchick, but hardly unusual for the tall, seamy-faced man who has spent more than a half-century in the pressure of competitive basketball.

The St. John's coach, bowing out next month due to the university's mandatory retirement age of 65, sends his Redmen against top-seeded Villanova in the title game of the 28th National Invitation Tournament Saturday afternoon at Madison Square Garden.

Lapchick's 20th and last St. John's team is an inspired bunch that makes no bones about its goal—winning this last one for the coach. If the Redmen do, it will be a record fourth NIT crown for Lapchick and St. John's.

St. John's whipped Boston College, second-seeded New Mexico and Army on its way to the final, for a 20-8 season record. The big triumph prior to the NIT was, of course, the victory over top-ranked Michigan in the Garden's Holiday Festival.

Villanova, 23-4 and eighth-ranked nationally, edged Manhattan 73-71 in the NIT quarterfinals but routed New York University 91-69 in Thursday night's semis. The Wildcats scored a 52-43 home court victory over St. John's during the regular season.

Villanova's strength is twofold, tenacity and quickness. The Wildcats on defense keep their hands up and moving, gang up on the man with the ball, and make the opposition earn its points.

Their pacesetter on attack is Bill Melchioni, a scrappy driver. Jim Washington, 6-foot-7 center, and 6-8 sophomore Bill Soens give them superior rebounding and good close-in scoring.

St. John's has been led by shooter Ken McIntyre, whose 633 points in three games includes 29-for-29 from the foul line. Over-all, the 6-3 blond gunner has hit 42 straight free throws.

Army and NYU meet in the preliminary for third place for the second year in a row. The Cadets won last time, 60-59, and should repeat.

Lapchick, who never went to college, was a teen-aged professional and a star with the famed Original Celtics. Between his two stints at St. John's, he coached the pro New York Knicks for nine seasons, 1947-56.

Cage Mentors Ask Proposal To Repeal Rule

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The National Association of Basketball Coaches has recommended that a rule restraining coach's movements on the bench be repealed.

The coaches approved the resolution 61-14 at their annual convention Thursday night.

The recommendation goes to the National Rules Committee, which meets in Chicago Monday.

The rule, put into effect this past season, requires that a coach sit on the bench while the clock is running. The penalty for failing to do so is a technical foul.

The rule received strict interpretation on the West Coast, but coaches said was enforced much less strictly in other sections.

The coaches ejected 11 other proposed rules changes, including suggestions that the height of the basket be raised to 12 feet; the limit of five personal fouls be removed; the value of a field goal from 22 feet out be increased to three points, and placing a 30-second limit on the time allowed for a team to get off a shot.

Things Will Be Updated In KC

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — Charlie Finley fired the sheep, retired the shepherd and hired a Missouri mule to put a kick in the Kansas City Athletics. He also moved back the fences and traded Rocky Colavito's home run for the gloves of Jim Landis and Mike Hersherberger. Everything will be up-to-date in Kansas City. The public address system will serenade the retiring pitcher with "Good Night, Sweetheart." Johnny Keane will hear "St. Louis Blues" when he changes a New York Yankee pitcher. Manager Mel McGaha is optimistic but the hard facts of life in the American League indicate another tail-end finish for the A's. "We are rebuilding," McGaha said as a starter. Then he changed. "Maybe you'd better make that building. We're going with the kids. The Phillies made that decision a few years back and they made a good run last year. Their kids had grown up. We hope ours have, too. "Making the outfield bigger should help our pitching. They were shell-shocked last year. We came within five home runs of setting a record for most home runs hit by the opposition in our park. It got to be a psychological thing. "We have a lot more grass to cover now and we have Landis and Hersherberger to do it. All the fences have been moved back except in right field, because we hit more homers there than the opposition. "Our over-all defense will be much better with Landis and Hersherberger in the outfield. Our infield is in good shape with Jim Gentile on first, Dick Green at second, Wayne Causey at short and Ed Charles at third. For the left field, McGaha has Nelson Mathews, last year's center fielder, and Campy Campaneris, who made a sensational home run debut in 1964, plus rookies Tom Reynolds and Larry Stahl. Bill Bryan and Doc Edwards probably will be the catchers. Claude Lockwood, a $100,000 bonus boy, will be an extra infielder. Diego Segui, Orlando Pena and John O'Donoghue are the holdover starters and John Wyatt, who set a record with 81 appearances, and Wes Stock are the strong arms in the bullpen. Blue Moon Odom and Catfish Hunter are a pair of $75,000 bonus lads who must stay. All told there are 18 pitchers in camp and McGaha has an open mind. The A's are short on pitching and punch but the defense should be tighter.

Running attached from Portland, Ore., Grelle turned it on in the last half lap to pass Billy Mills of the Marines and won by five yards before a cheering crowd of 8,968. ## More Money Asked Of Warriors' Owners

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Owners of the San Francisco Warriors have been asked to provide an additional $200,000 in working capital for the National Basketball Association team next season. Club President Franklin Mieuli announced at the same time there is "absolutely no inclination to sell or move the club." The Warriors moved to San Francisco from Philadelphia in 1962. Last season they won the Western Division title but this year have lost a record 63 games. Even though they moved home games from the Cow Palace into Civic Auditorium downtown, they failed to draw anticipated crowds. The average per game attendance was between 2,000 and 2,500, while 3,500 is needed to break even financially. Mieuli, a radio and television executive with holdings in the San Francisco 49ers pro football team, is the only general partner in the Warrior operation. He is reported to control about 40 per cent of the stock with 32 limited partners holding the remainder. "Obviously, we don't like to lose money," Mieuli said. "I'm not happy but it's nothing to be panicked about." Much of the new money required, $2,000 per share, has already been furnished. "We are in the process of developing a team," Mieuli said. "A call for funds is not unusual in such development. We have done it before." The latest call was reported to be the largest since the Warriors were purchased for $85,000. In mid-season, the Warriors in a trade with the Philadelphia 76ers sent Wilt Chamberlain East in return for three players and cash. Wayne Hightower was later sold to Baltimore for cash and a future draft choice.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Can Bent In Oval Makes Pouring Easy

By Heloise Cross

Dear Heloise: When you pour a can of food in place of feeding your children, etc., etc., etc., sometimes it's a little messy.

If you only need half or one-third of a can and want to pour the remaining part of the can into a bowl or jar, here's one that just can't be done. It's a little messy, but it's a lot easier than trying to pour it out of the can.

This way you can pour the contents out of a can without spilling them.

After all we are going to eat that can anyway, aren't we? So why not bend it as long as it serves no purpose?

Ann Scholz

Dear Heloise: Don't throw away those throw rugs that have become slippery because of washing or cleaning.

Take an old bath towel and sew it to the wrong side of the rug and use this as a combination mat in your bathroom. This way, during the day you have a throw rug in the bathroom, which will not slip or slide, and at night you can turn it over and have a soft, absorbent bath mat.

Ann Scholz

Dear Heloise: Some of our friends who use a color rinse on their hair might like to try a trick that works for me.

Before applying the rinse, I cover my skin all around the hair line with cold cream. This way the rinse will not soak into the skin.

Doris Perkins

Dear Heloise: Nearly all of my husband's socks are black - or they were. Now they look so faded and dingy.

Is there anything I can do to restore them to their original color?

Maggie

Dear Maggie: When they turn gray from ordinary washing, soak them in a basin of very hot water to which a cup of vinegar has been added. This will remove the soap film - and that is what usually causes the grayness.

Vinegar water is also good for removing bacteria, and once the film is removed the bacteria will wash out.

Heloise

Dear Heloise: After I use adhesive-backed paper to cover shelves, waste-baskets, books, etc., I have the leftover scraps, even though they may be long strips as narrow as one inch.

These long strips are excellent to seal backing of pictures. I recently framed some enlargements to photographs. The strips worked very well to seal the gap between frame and picture backings.

ENSEMBLES are a favorite look in little girls' spring clothes. Cinderella uses rayon linen for a navy skimmer covered by a white bolero jacket piped in spring green.

Spring Brings Zingy Colors, Ladylike Look

By FLORENCE de SANTIS

Spring for little girls once meant either tailored navy blue or ruffy bouffant pastels. Navy blue is still around, but the ruffy bouffants have departed.

A gentle, ladylike look is the thing, created by A-line shaping, ensembles of dresses with jackets or coats. Colors zing off in such combinations as white with green and navy, in white-dotted navy, clear yellows, deep pinks, even the sophisticated touch of black and white.

Ensembles are favored, of course, for Easter. Cinderella does a coat and dress of white-dotted Swiss on navy, with a white bodice on the pleated dress, white lace edging to the coat. Their jacket ensemble is made up of a navy skimmer dress with an asymmetrically closed bolero jacket in white edged with bright green.

Shepardess does a bright green pleated-skirt coat over a white dress with matching green polka dots. Claire Brooke's green and blue seersucker jacket with double-breasted gilt buttons is cut low to show the neckline of the bright blue pleated skirt dress beneath. Similar is Sternberg's combination of bright blue jacket over a striped top and brown pleated skirt.

Piccolino, of the fine Italian knits for youngsters, does an Orton knit ensemble of a white coat and high-bosomed white dress, both edged sharply in black. There's a matching beret.

Dresses, for both daytime and parties, are often two-piece, with tunic overblouses in many style varieties. Gray flannel over plaid in gray, white and yellow, black-and-white checks over white, yellow over black are just a few of the many new color combinations that give little girls fashion.

Many dresses feature middy collars and ties. Some are easy skimmers, like Regal's pink wool with the low waist over box-pleated skirt, the kind of little pink dress that goes everywhere and under a navy or gray coat with ease. Others, like Girltown's combination, are two-piece, with the sleeveless top prepared to take a blouse when wanted.

Jumpers are still an important look, as they double for a sleeveless dress when wanted. Regal's middy skimmer is a jumper, when desired, and most jumpers can be worn without their blouses.

Dieters Enjoy Cafe Au Lait

If you've switched from cream to milk in your coffee (for weight-watching purposes) you might enjoy heating the milk, French fashion, before adding it to the coffee. If the coffee is really strong, you can add a fair portion of milk.

CORK TWISTER

When you are twisting the cork out of a bottle of champagne, hold the bottle at a forty-five degree angle.

DUCK WINGS

The wings of a roast duck do not make an adequate serving portion. If you don't serve them, let them enrich a poultry or meat stock.

DEAR ABBY

His Helpful Offers Just Excuse To Roam

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: After 12 years of marriage how dumb can a wife be? Almost every evening after supper, Joe would ask me if I needed anything from the drugstore or the all-night grocery store. (You know, a woman always needs something.) I would tell him and he'd take off. If one of the kids wanted to go along for the ride, he'd always make up some excuse why they couldn't go. Anyway, he'd never take any of them with him.

He would be gone two or three hours. Then he'd come home with a magazine or toothpicks or some little item he picked up for me, and he would always have "bumped into somebody" who held him up for a couple of hours. Now I realize that Joe just wanted to get out of the house. What do you suppose my Joe is out looking for?

JUST CAUGHT ON
DEAR JUST: I don't know. What does he need?

DEAR ABBY: I recently read an article in a popular women's magazine on the matter of "allowances" for school children. The author advised mothers to get together with the parents of other children in her child's class and decide on a certain amount so that all the children would have the same spending money, and therefore feel that they "belong." Inasmuch as you came out against "codes" for teen-agers, I wonder how you feel about this?

MRS. A.
DEAR MRS. A.: Again, this is a decision that should be made by each parent, and not by a "group." A child's allowance should be determined by how much his parents think they can and should spare. This will vary, since all children do not have the same economic backgrounds. I believe that more important than the feeling of "belonging" to a group is for a child to understand that he "belongs" to his family, and must live according to their moral and economic standards.

DEAR ABBY: I have read many letters in your column from people who are concerned about where their remains will be deposited after death. Four years ago my husband and I willed our eyes to the Providence Hospital Eye Bank in Seattle. And our bodies to the Washington Medical School. Whenever I see a sightless person I thank God for the privilege of being able to give sight to another. Willing our eyes and bodies took only ten days from the first phone call. The total cost for drawing up both wills was $25. A cadaver costs a medical school about $500. Do you know of a better way to donate $1000 to the college of your choice? I am 47 and my husband is 50. We have two fine sons, and have had 25 wonderful years together. And we hope to have many more happy years in the future. But when "that day" comes, we'll still go on being useful. Let others worry about where they are going after death. No us! We're going back to the university for research. Sincerely,

MRS. H. F. IN L.A.
DEAR MRS. H. F.: Thank you for your heartwarming letter. Anyone wishing information on the procedure of willing one's eyes after death may either write to this column or contact his local LION'S CLUB. For willing the body, your local medical college can provide you with pertinent information.

The installation banquet, "A Rhapsody in Pink," will feature Mrs. Fred Maunel, first vice president, National Council of State Garden Clubs, Inc.

Following the talk by Mrs. Maunel, the seven visiting districts will enter one arranger each in a contest, the winner to be selected by applause.

Concluding convention activities will be a reception honoring new officers in the patio of the Ramada Inn at 10 p.m.

Reservations for the convention may be made with Mrs. J. Wynn Barron, 132 Chester Street, Alexandria.

'Satchmo' Avoids Controversy Talk

BERLIN (AP) — The famous jazz pianist, Louis Armstrong, who is visiting East Berlin, is avoiding controversy by not talking about the city's political situation.

The 45-year-old Armstrong, who has been in East Berlin for a week, is being interviewed by a group of reporters.

Asked whether he would be more active in the civil rights movement when he returns to the United States, Armstrong said all he would do is make music.

"All I can do is put a little something in the air," he replied. "I love everybody, white or black."

"I can't think of anything else," he said. "I just played in the south — in Birmingham, Memphis, Nashville and in Washington — and we played in the best hotels and we played to mixed audiences."

Questioned about a statement that he planned to return to Chicago, West Africa, the 45-year-old pianist said:

"When I retire and I get enough money to buy some land in Ghana I will build a house there. And then I have a house in the United States and one in Ghana. I love it very much."

Armstrong is the first jazz musician to play in East Germany, where for many years jazz was banned.

A Western reporter asked Armstrong whether he would see the Communist wall while in East Berlin.

"I've seen the wall," he replied.

"I am not worried about the

If you have a question you would like answered, call or write "Mr. Editor, Tell Me, Please" at the News-Star and Morning World. We'll be glad to get the information and pass it on to you in this column.

In a previous column we had a question wanting to know where information on Nathan and Shemaiah (Biblical) and the Book of Gad would be found. We have received the following from one of our readers.

Information of Nathan and Shemaiah will be found in the works of Josephus. The Book of Gad will be found in the Forgotten Books of Eden.

I am getting along in years, am in ill health, own over $20,000 in Series E savings bonds and am wondering whether I could name my alma mater as beneficiary. I have no known next-of-kin and feel I owe my school much for the success I've enjoyed.

Sorry, the answer is no. Savings bonds issued in beneficiary or co-owner form can name two natural persons only. A bond naming a school or any other type organization can be registered in the name of that school or organization only. There is one way you could see that the school gets the money, though, and at the same time insure it gets money on top of money. You could cash your bonds and buy bonds in the name of the school with the proceeds. You would, however, have to pay federal income tax on all interest earned on the bonds up to the time of cashing them.

How near a property line may a fence be placed in the city of Monroe? (For instance, a foot or what?) Also, if a fence is placed on the property line or too near the property line, without the knowledge or consent of the adjoining property, does the other property owner become part owner of the fence?

Monroe Zoning Administrator James Harbuck says the city's zoning ordinance does not specify a minimum approach for one property owner's fence to the property of another owner. The fence, therefore, can be erected "right up to the other property owner's land," though it is "safer to set the fence two to three inches back from the property line." If it encroaches on another owner's land, that owner may remove it or cause the builder to have it removed.

The best arrangement, Harbuck feels, is an amicable agreement for a "partnership fence" which will be jointly-owned.

The zoning ordinance, while it does not specify a minimum approach referred to in the question, does cover heights of fences and whether they can be erected in required front yards. Harbuck suggested interested residents contact him on the provision if they plan to build a fence.

Who are the officers of the Louisiana Sheriff's Association? Are there full-time positions?

The following officers were listed by Sheriff Bailey Grant of Ouachita Parish, who serves as secretary-treasurer of the association:

President, Gordon Martin, St. James Parish, Convent; 1st vice president, Robert Wasson, Claiborne Parish; 2nd vice president, G. H. Wattigny, Iberia Parish.

Mrs. Annie Mae Coverdale of Monroe, is assistant secretary-treasurer and handles the pension fund.

Mrs. Coverdale is the only full-time officer. The others handle the duties of the association along with the activities of the respective parish obligations.

Serving on the board of directors for the association, also not on a full-time basis, are: John F. Rowley, St. Bernard Parish, 1st district; Gordon Martin, St. James Parish, 2nd district; Eddie Ste. Marie, Lafourche Parish, 3rd district; H. N. Davis, Bienville Parish, 4th district; C. E. Hester, Madison Parish, 5th district; B. F. Bergeron, West Baton Rouge Parish, 6th district; Elton A. Arceneaux, Acadia Parish, 7th district; and Sanford Jordan, Winn Parish, 8th district.

Wallace Hunter of Baton Rouge is legal counsel for the organization.

What are the qualifications needed for the state director of institutions and what is the salary?

A spokesman for the State Department of Institutions in Baton Rouge said that, as far as he knew, there were no specific qualifications for the position, since it was an appointive post and did not come under Civil Service. The director is appointed by the Louisiana Board of Institutions. He added that anyone seeking this post should have a great deal of experience in operating penal and correctional institutions and should be completely familiar with the complexities found in running a governmental department. The department is presently without a director. The salary of the last man to hold the directorship was $16,000, but the salary for the new director will probably be at the discretion of the board.

When buying an acre of land in Ouachita Parish, should the measurement be taken out from the center of the highway, or should it begin at the edge of the property?

A spokesman from the Ouachita Parish tax assessor's office answered that the land measurement should start on the right-of-way line at the edge of the highway.

Is there an established mileage rate on ambulance service?

No, according to a local funeral home director. Each company sets its own prices, with some firms charging more, some less. He added that service in smaller towns usually is less expensive, since companies in these locations would not have as much overhead expenses as those in larger cities.

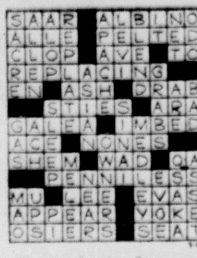

Last year I was retired from a major oil company at the age of 58 due to my health. Regular retirement age for this company is presently 65. I am now receiving full Social Security benefits, and fully understand that I cannot work at another job. My question is, would I lose my Social Security benefits if I purchased a few cows and took care of them myself? In other words, can I do any kind of work without jeopardizing my Social Security benefits?

Anyone receiving disability benefits should confer with officials at the local Social Security office before planning to engage in any type of business. You should check with this office, located at 607 N. 3rd St., and outline your plans before taking any further action. The law rules that a person engaged in substantial gainful activity may not be eligible for Social Security benefits.

CAUTION URGED

Republicans Want Stronger Vote Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some Republican congressmen complained Friday that President Johnson's voting rights bill would not guarantee the ballot to all Southern Negroes. And they talked of broadening its provisions.

But Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach counseled against any step that would jeopardize what he called a widespread consensus backing the bill in both House and Senate. He expressed belief court actions under existing law can meet discrimination problems in areas not covered by the new bill.

Rep. William C. Cramer of Florida keynoted the Republican criticism, charging the Johnson plan would leave open the possibility of "rank discrimination" in Southern states it does not cover.

At issue before a House Judiciary subcommittee are the criteria the bill sets to trigger its guarantee. It would go into operation in states or political subdivisions that have literacy of similar tests and in which registration or voter turnout dipped below 50 per cent in last November's election.

Rep. John V. Lindsay, R-N.Y., suggested that it be applied, instead, to any state in which a president or the attorney general finds a pattern of voting discrimination.

Lindsay suggested also congressional action that would allow the government to send forces to protect people against police brutality. But Katzenbach said that could endanger the whole bill. And he insisted the 50 per cent turnout test should remain the basic rule.

Under it, literacy tests would be eliminated in six Southern states: Virginia, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana.

If discrimination persisted, the government could send federal officials to register voters.

The bill also would affect 34 counties in North Carolina, along with Alaska; Apache County, Ariz.; Aroostook County, Maine; and Elmore County, Idaho.

A state or county could escape the bill's provisions by proving it had not discriminated against voters for at least 10 years.

Katzenbach said the weather might have cut Alaska voter turnout and put some northern counties under the bill's provisions.

"They may have had a snowstorm in Aroostook county," he said. "But they didn't have a snowstorm in 34 counties of North Carolina, they couldn't have a snowstorm in Mississippi."

It was Katzenbach's second round of testimony before the subcommittee. Tuesday, he moves to a new arena — the Senate Judiciary Committee, which never has approved a civil rights bill.

The Senate has ordered that committee to act on the measure by April 9.

Cramer pointed to other Southern states, and said the bill shouldn't exempt them. "I understand that there are two

Hobson Norris Appointed To Wildlife Post

BATON ROUGE — Hobson Norris, an active West Monroe sportsman, was appointed Friday to the Louisiana Wildlife & Fisheries Commission by Gov. John J. McKeithen.

McKeithen disclosed Norris' appointment at a press conference.

"Mr. Norris has been active in sportsmen's circles for many years and I'm happy to make the appointment," the governor said.

Norris succeeds Ray Whatley of Alexandria. Whatley's term expired last December.

McKeithen noted the Fifth District, as well as the Fourth District, were not represented on the Wildlife and Fisheries Commission. Norris' term will run for six years.

Norris, who is in the syrup business, has been an active worker in the Ouachita wildlife unit for many years. He is a past recipient of the Floyd Martin award, presented annually by the Ouachita club to the conservationist of the year.

Norris' appointment came as the Louisiana Wildlife Federation opened its annual convention at Baton Rouge.

Director Joe Hair Jr. said he would introduce Norris at the convention.

Whatley served as commission chairman before his term expired. The law prohibits the governor from reappointing commission members after they serve full terms.

McKeithen made the appointment after Sam Frisby, president of the state wildlife federation wrote the governor requesting him to appoint a north Louisiana citizen to succeed Whatley.

When asked if he had any comment on Frisby's letter, McKeithen replied, "I made the appointment this afternoon. I appointed Hobson Norris."

McComb Paper Receives Award For Editorials

MCCOMB, Miss. (AP) — During a summer of racial bombings and burnings, the McComb Enterprise-Journal sounded repeated calls for reason and calm in this tense southeast Mississippi railroad center.

"When we charge that the world will come tumbling down on us if some Negro people are permitted to vote, we must check facts," wrote Editor J. O. Emmerich in a front page editorial. "It is not so. We can prove it and do."

For its continued campaign to curb racial violence during 1964, the Enterprise-Journal and its editor were named winner Friday of a National Headliner Award by the Atlantic City, N.J. Press Club.

The citation was based on two series of editorials — the first during the spring of 1964 urging calmness and respect for law; and the second during the summer and fall following a series of bombings and burnings.

"The days ahead are not nearly so dark as they may appear and for one reason," one editorial said. "The reason is our people will come to the realization of the need of positive responsible thinking and supply it."

Official Regrets Russians' Stand On Viet Trouble

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Friday he regrets that the Soviet Union "appears disinclined to put its full weight behind" the 1954 and 1962 Geneva agreements on Viet Nam and Laos.

In a statement, Rusk took the unusual step of responding to comments made by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko at a news conference in London after Soviet-British talks on Viet Nam.

"I agree with Mr. Gromyko that Hanoi is the key to peace in Southeast Asia," Rusk said. "If Hanoi stops molesting its neighbors, then peace can be restored promptly and U.S. forces can come home."

"I regret that the Soviet Union, which was a signatory of the 1954 and 1962 agreements, appears disinclined to put its full weight behind those agreements."

In London, Gromyko had declared that an end to U.S. military action was the essential first step to a solution of the Vietnamese crisis.

ADOLESCENT ACNE

Teen-agers with acne may be looking forward to spring because it means more sunshine and a better complexion. Ultraviolet dries oily skin and eliminates debris that forms blackheads. Avoid over-exposure; too much is likely to backfire. Many had this experience last year when pimples and blackheads returned after too much summer sun.

The cause is unpredictable. Do not take stock in the saying "all youngsters will outgrow it." Many do, but the penalty of neglect may be residual scars, pits, and bumps. The individual does not have a choice of what type of acne develops. Those with deeply infected cysts and abscesses are more likely to have extensive scarring unless they receive expert care. The youngster with mild acne runs the same risk by picking and squeezing the lesions. Scars can be camouflaged or removed partially by dermabrasion (skin planing).

Simple treatment helps the majority. The face should be washed several times a day with warm water and a medicated soap, such as Safeguard, Dial, or Acne-Aid detergent soap. An abrasive cleanser, such as Brasso, is severe when lesions are severe. Blackheads are removed with a comedo extractor, preferably after hot compresses are applied to the skin. Creams containing sulfur, such as acne-mel, Fostril, or Acne-Dome, are of value at night. Several remedies contain antibiotics, sulfonamides, or hormones. Relationships often exist between seborrhea of the scalp (oily dandruff) and acne. Frequent shampoos with medicated soap are helpful. Avoid greasy hair pomades. A diet low in fried, greasy foods, chocolate, nuts, and substances rich in iodine is recommended, along with ample out-of-door exercise and rest.

ECHOING FOOD

This is a form of indigestion, which may result from improper mastication, eating too rapidly, stomach or gall bladder trouble, or nervousness. In many instances the cause is swallowing too much air with each mouthful. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on air swallowing.

ONE SHORT LEG
M. C. writes: What causes one leg to become shorter than the other in adult life?
REPLY
Possibilities include fracture, certain blood disorders, and diseases such as polio, tuberculosis, and osteoarthritis. Most cases of short leg, the defect originated before birth or in childhood. Discovery in adulthood usually means the cause was missed in previous years.

OUTLINING
N. A. writes: Why does the doctor make lines on my chest when he is examining me?

He is marking the outlines of the heart and diaphragm to determine their size and location. This is done by tapping the chest; the tone over the heart, for example, is less resonant than over the air-filled lungs.

DON'T MESSAGE PHYSICS
B. B. writes: Is physical therapy good for varicose veins?
REPLY
No, it may be somewhat risky to massage the legs or apply too much heat.

Today's Health Hint
Get more sleep when colds are rife.

Scads of artists have recorded Charles Aznavour's song, "For Mama," but Connie Francis' version is the one making the best-seller lists. . . . A Seven Arts executive, just back from London after seeing a screening of "The Hill," says it ranks among the great films of all time, and will definitely establish Sean Connery as a top-flight dramatic actor. Film festivals throughout Europe seem to have gotten the message, and it's in demand for their showings.

Significant maybe? News-dealers in some of New York's better sections say their best customers for racing forms these days are ladies. And that conforms with the experience in London when off-track betting was installed. The housewives flocked to the horse parlors. Here, it's not even legal, off-track, but the girls seem to be finding some way, or they'd be daffy to be studying the morning line.

Market Closes Mixed Session

NEW YORK (AP)—Weakness in airlines and scattered strength among rails and aerospace defense issues were features of another mixed stock market Friday. Trading was moderately active.

The market ended the week as it began it, with a hedge of plus and minus signs and a conflicting story told by the averages.

One thing seemed fairly well established: that when the Dow Jones industrial average goes above the 900 level it doesn't go very far before it backtracks below it once again.

The Dow industrials took a modest loss of .76 at 895.79. Aside from the normal pre-weekend caution there was the report of another $250 million decline in the U. S. monetary gold reserve to give investors pause.

Airlines were under the special influence of an item in a financial newspaper to the effect that cuts in air fares are likely if airline earnings continue high. Pressure by the Government was looked for to bring about the fare cuts, as 11th most active.

American Airlines lost 1 1/2, Northwest 2, Delta 1 1/2 and United 3.

Volume was a relatively moderate 5.04 million shares. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks edged upward .1 to 334.9 with industrials off .6, rails up .8 and utilities up .2.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index made a slight gain of .03 at 86.84.

The rise of these two market indicators was accomplished because of selective strength.

Domestic Cotton Prices Drop On Board Of Trade

Nearby May contracts traded higher on short covering, although bid prices were lower at the close. Distant May and July were barely steady, with bid prices as much as $1 a bale lower.

Spot cotton markets were quiet.

Grain Market Closes Session On Mixed Note

CHICAGO (AP)—The grain futures market ranged from firm to weak in mixed and largely speculative transactions on the Board of Trade.

New crop wheat and soybeans were under moderate selling pressure most of the time as speculators worked toward balancing their commitments for the weekend. Brokers said there appeared to be a good deal of caution in the long side of both commodities because of belief the government might show a considerably increased interest acreage this year.

The Government report on intentions to plant was to be released after the close of the market. Trade guesses were that the Spring wheat acreage would be up at least slightly and soybeans by about 3 million acres.

Committee Asks For Fresh Draft On Medical Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee ordered a fresh draft of the complex health care bill, apparently throwing the measure off the fast schedule House leaders had hoped to meet.

Committee sources said the group at a long closed meeting Friday failed to reach a vote and members decided to have the many detailed changes discussed during the past week incorporated in a fresh copy. They predicted a vote about Wednesday. The bill runs more than 250 printed pages.

Seven Arrested

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The FBI said Friday agents have arrested seven local men for the theft of $3,000 in truck and car tires from riverfront wharves.

A spokesman said the tires were being transported from Marseilles, France, and Genoa, Italy, to Houston, Tex.

Five were charged with theft from interstate and foreign commerce, one was charged with receiving and possessing stolen merchandise, and the other was charged as an accessory after the fact.

All seven were released under bond of $1,500 each.

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A federal judge sent the Jack Ruby sanity-lawyer dispute case back to state courts Friday after hearing a lengthy monologue from Ruby about lawyers and conspiracies.

The ruling by U.S. Dist. Judge T. Whitfield Davidson in effect rejected a claim by the Texas Civil Liberties Union and lawyers for Ruby's family that the

White Files For Entrance At Gambling

BATON ROUGE (AP) — A white woman filed suit in U.S. District Court Friday to desegregate all-Negro gambling college at Ruston.

Grumbling is the last among 14 colleges and universities operated by the state to come under court attack for segregation policies.

In the suit here, Mary E. Jamieson of Lafayette asked for a speedy hearing to allow her to enter the school in time for the summer term.

She filed suit for herself and "others similarly situated," in a class-action suit. She claimed she was unsuccessful in an attempt to register at Grumbling earlier this month.

Grumbling was created by the legislature as an all-Negro college.

When the State Board of Education balked last month at signing federal anti-bias pledges, some members said some state schools were set up by the legislature to be segregated, Negro institutions.

They said the board could not override or amend state law and Grumbling was an example of why the board could not sign the civil rights agreements.

The suit names as defendants the State Board of Education; its President, W. E. Wheatstone; Monroe; Education Supt. William J. Dodd and R. W. E. Jones, president of the college.

Her attorney was listed as A. P. Tureaud, New Orleans, counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and other members of the Tureaud firm.

The suit claims the rights of Miss Jamieson and other white persons are violated, under the due process and equal protection clauses of the 14th Amendment of the U.S. Constitution, by the legislative act setting up Grumbling as an all-Negro institution.

President Sends Congratulations To Space Pilots

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson has sent his congratulations and best wishes to Soviet astronauts and scientists saying "all of us have been deeply impressed" by the feat of the first man to venture outside a space ship in outer space.

The message was sent late Thursday night to the Soviet government, White House press secretary George E. Reedy said.

Addressed to Soviet President Anastas I. Mikoyan, the President's message said:

"All of us have been deeply impressed by Lt. Col. Alexei Leonov's feat in becoming the first man to leave a space ship in outer space and return safely. I take pleasure, Mr. Chairman, in offering on behalf of the people of the United States sincere congratulations and best wishes to the cosmonauts and the scientists and all the others responsible for this outstanding accomplishment."
